(Product description)

Life is our duty

WE TAKE CARE OF LIFE

Life is the most precious asset. A2A takes care of it every day by taking care of environment, water and energy. And we do so using the most advanced technologies because we look far ahead. We think of the future of our Planet. To make everyone's life better.

Energy: Our presence spans the entire energy value chain, from the production to the sale of electricity, gas and services, to the provision of e-mobility and energy efficiency solutions to drive energy transition efforts of families, businesses and residential complexes.

Smart Infrastructures: Every day, across our networks, we distribute electricity and gas, drinking water and heat for district heating. We are working side by side with public authorities in the transition from city to smart city through development projects for public lighting and the transformation of entire neighbourhoods. We are providing smart solutions and agritech projects for utilities and businesses respectively.

Environment: From urban cleaning to the integrated management of waste, to material and energy recovery: we are constantly striving for value. Our circular economy model enables us to transform waste into resources: a virtuous system involving, first of all, collection and then re-use, repair, sharing, recycling as material and transformation of the non-recuperable part of waste into energy:
